

Construction Youth Trust

The FPS will be receiving a presentation from the Construction Youth Trust; Charlotte Higgins Anthony Oloyede and Thomas Glover.

The FPS has been speaking to since the FPS has been looking for an administrative partner for the FPS mentoring scheme. The FPS has since decided to join with Steer mentors who have been successful in delivering mentoring for undergraduates at a couple of Universities over the past few years. They seemed a better fit for what the FPS has planned to do on that particular project rather than the Construction Youth Trust, whose focus has been on teenagers at school and young people that are "NEET" (not in employment, education or training). They provide training courses and facilitate job opportunities, but it's fair to say that the roles have tended to be more operationally focused than technical or managerial. It has been thought that the Construction Youth Trust fit with the needs of the FPS in regards to the provision of potential trailblazer apprentices and the support they can provide in guiding these individuals many of whom are from challenging backgrounds.
